

Image Index Bullet Journaling for Serial Killers Part I

All images used in this book are freely available in the public domain with a simple Google search. Below I have linked all photos used by page they appear on to credit the original owner. The only exception to this is my own photos from my personal collection which are labelled as such. My main aim was to collate as much information as possible for the reader and group it all together, allowing you to then research the things that are of interest. A huge thank you to all the organisations that have made their images available in the public domain.
